How "Bill" Hoey Won $23,000. "Old Hoss" William Hoey, of the theatrical firm of Evans & Hoey, has returned from Europe, bringing among other things $23,000 of Monte Carlo gold, which he won in a three-days' battle with the wax-mustached crouplers of the roulette table. He told the story to a party of friends, as follows:

"We left London, five of us, June 3.

There was "Billy" Mann, "Jimmy"
Powers, "Charley" Evans and Max
Bleiman. We went direct to Paris, where we skated around for a week and Manu suggested that we go to Monte Carlo, Charley went broke almost right away.

"We were playing roulette. I was playing a louis at a time. I lost all my change. I had been playing the three, but the ball some how didn't drop in the three pocket. The rest got broke and urged me to go along with them.
I fished around in my clothes and found gold piece. I forget the name of it, but it's worth about $10 in our money.

"I laid it on the three spot on the ta-ble, and I'm blessed if she didn't come up. That paid 35 for 1, and the waxy-mustached fellow shoved over $350 in gold and notes. 'You dassen't leave it on 3, said Evans. 'I dast.' I replied,

"It came up again, and that's the truth; you can ask any of them that truth; you can ask any of them that grade $12,250. I was for quitting, and we got out. The next night I gave $10,000 to Max Bleiman and ordered him not to give me a cent till we got to Paris. I took the balance and went back. I put the whole business—$2,250—on the red. Up she came. I got even money, and that made $4,500. It was too easy, and I escaped. They all concentralitated me.

"I gave Max $4,000, and the next af-ternoon, I couldn't wait until dark, so ternoon, I couldn't wait timit dark, so took the $500 and started again. There was a big Russian in my seat, but he was so stuck on seeing me play the previous night that he got up and insisted on my taking his seat. I knew he would play as I did, but that was all right. Sure enough I put the $500 on the seal and he beyond ever we and on the red, and he leaned over me and put $50 on the same. I won again, "Then I put $100 between the two zeros. I won again, that gave me $1,750, or 17 to 1. The Russian won about $4,000 and wanted to kiss me. My whiskers interferred and I objected. I made two or three other bets one again on the three, and altogether I objected by $23,000.

"I'm telling the truth, and you can prove it by Brown Bros., with whom I deposited $20,000 in London. Lots of people make bluffs about winnings, but mine can be settled easily enough.

Number three suits me WRITING WITH THE LEFT HAND. SOFT PULVERIZED The number of men who can write legibly with the left hand is very small in this country, where the fact of being ambidextrous is not appreciated at its full worth, says a St. Louis exchange. Sir Edwin Arnold remarked while in St. Louis that in Japan every child is taught to write with either and both hands, and he hinted that this was not the only evidence of sound common sense he met with while in the kingdom of the Mikado. I learned to write with my left hand some years ago, in consequence of the impression created in my mind by reading the arguments of Charles Reade on the subject, and now I change my pen from hand to hand on the first impen from hand to hand on the first impression of weariness. There have been many remedies suggested for what is known as writer's cramp, and many writers alternate between the pen and the typewriter, but the simplest plan of all is to acquire the art of writing with either hand, and change from one to the other on the first suspicion of far the other on the first suspicion of fa-tigue. It is quite easy for a child to learn to write with the left hand, and although after the muscles have got set with age it is more difficult, almost any man can learn to write with his left hand in a week and to write as well with one hand as the other in less than
